01 Pick the right habits

START SMALL, START RIGHT

1

Choose 6 habits, not 20

Six is enough to change your days and few enough to tick in 10 seconds. Your tracker has 6 columns for this reason.

2

Mix easy and hard

Pick 3 habits you already almost do (like drinking water) and 3 that stretch you. Early wins keep you going.

3

Make each one clear

“Read” is vague. “Read 10 pages” is clear. You should know in one second if you did it.

4

Write the tiny version

For each habit, write a 2-minute version for busy days: 1 page, 1 glass, a 5-minute walk.

5

Write why it matters

One line per habit in My habit plan. On hard days, the why is what gets you to tick the box.

TIP

Rename the 6 columns in the Days database to your own habits. Everything else updates by itself.

02 The habit loop

CUE, ROUTINE, REWARD

Cue

Something that reminds you: a time, a place, or something you already do.

Routine

The habit itself. Keep it so small you can't say no.

Reward

Something you enjoy right after: coffee, music, ticking the box.

Habit stacking

Link a new habit to an old one: “After I pour my coffee, I drink a glass of water.”

Make it visible

Book on your pillow, shoes by the door, water bottle on your desk.

Make it easy

Remove the steps between you and the habit. Prepare tonight what you need tomorrow.

> “After I _____, I will _____.” Write one for each habit.

03 Your 30-day plan

FOUR WEEKS, ONE STEP AT A TIME

🌱 Week 1

Days 1–7

- [ ] Do only the tiny versions
- [ ] Notice when you forget
- [ ] Tick every day in Notion
- [ ] Don't add new habits

🌿 Week 2

Days 8–14

- [ ] Grow 1 or 2 habits a little
- [ ] Aim for 4 out of 6 a day
- [ ] Fix the cue for the hard ones
- [ ] Read your why on hard days

🌳 Week 3

Days 15–21

- [ ] Keep the rhythm
- [ ] Check Monthly progress
- [ ] Try one ⭐ perfect day
- [ ] Write what helped

🏆 Week 4

Days 22–30

- [ ] Look at your best habit
- [ ] Write a short Reflection
- [ ] Change the habit that isn't working
- [ ] Plan next month's Focus

RULE Progress, not perfection. A 4 out of 6 day is a good day.

04 When you miss a day

BAD DAYS ARE PART OF IT

“I forgot”

- Move the cue somewhere you can't miss it
- Set one phone reminder at the same time
- Stack it on something you never skip

“I was too tired”

- Do the tiny version only
- Move the habit earlier in the day
- Check your sleep habit first

“I got bored”

- Change the place or the music
- Raise the goal a little
- Look back at your month to see how far you came

“I missed a whole week”

- Don't start over from zero: start from today
- Go back to the tiny versions for 3 days
- Pick 3 habits instead of 6 for a while

> Never miss twice. One missed day is normal. Two is the start of a new habit.
